

Marios Pittalis

(Undergraduate studies at the University of Cyprus: B.A. in Educational Sciences, 2000, Graduate Studies at the University of Cyprus, Department of Education: M.A. in Mathematics Education, 2004, PhD in Mathematics Education, University of Cyprus, 2008) is a researcher and educational personnel of mathematics education at the University of Cyprus. He participated in research projects funded by the European Union and in projects funded by the University of Cyprus and the Cyprus Research Foundation. He has worked for the development of the new mathematics curriculum in Cyprus and he works as a scientific collaborator in the development of the new teaching textbooks for the primary school. His research focuses on the cognitive development of mathematical thinking, the development of students 3-dimensional thinking, number sense and early algebraic thinking, and the integration of digital technologies in mathematics teaching. He has more than 70 research publications in scientific journals, books and conference proceedings.